Go Home and Start Getting Ready for Naples in 1999

Please remember to bring a display. I have changed the rules for this year's "Best In Show Award". Instead of being the best new beer opener "New Discovery", I want everyone to bring their favorite opener or corkscrew for the contest. It can be an item you have just picked up or something you have had forever. Just bring it and of course try to bring a regular display as we will have the normal first, second and third.

Soda Handbook Due Out Sometime

Unfortunately I am still working on the Soda Handbook. Hopefully sometime this summer it will be completed. Your patience is appreciated.

The Blue-Gray Breweriana Show February 13-15 Fredericksburg, VA

The highlight of winter collecting for me is attending the annual Blue-Gray Breweriana show. Once again this was a good show for adding to my collection. Just like last year I would be spending Thursday night at Larry Moter's house so we could work on another big trade. I arrived Thursday afternoon about 4:00. Larry and several other JFO members were already patrolling the hallways. Members present included Dick Kopp, Larry Moter, Fil Graff, Mark Barren and Lou Sutton. Also present was JFO member and breweriana dealer Ken Ostrow. He said I would probably be spending some money with him. The comment made me feel real good. Ken had an A-59 Providence for sale and like the A-60 Narragansett he sold me last year the price was $150. I was a happy buyer as it completed my collection of the "Big 3 Rhode Island Figurals" (A-37 Hand, the A-59 and A-60). He also had a real unusual M-19 for sale advertising C&C Soda. The unusual part was that end opposite the opener end was shaped like a cone top can (shown on page 16 of the April 1997 JFO newsletter).

After buying these 2 openers from Kenny I figured it couldn't get any better. It wasn't better but it was good when I bought a P-26 A-B knife dated 1900 with the stanhope intact for $110. By now I was ready for supper so Larry, Lou and I went to Larry's favorite BBQ place. As always the meal was good. Afterwards I turned up a few miscellaneous openers and then it was time to go to Larry's house. Once again Larry had some dynamite traders and they were an A-19-2 Lone Star and a D-11-1 Hagerstown. I had some pretty good "E"s for him and we completed a multi-opener trade pretty fast. I checked out part of his collection after the big trade and we turned in about midnight.

Larry and I were back at the hotel the next morning at 9:00. I spent most of the morning walking around with Lou Sutton checking out rooms. This was the biggest Blue-Gray Show ever with close to 200 rooms being sold out. The best pieces I found were a P-34 Schlitz and a mint M-3-29 Victor both of which came from Ken Ostrow. I ended up passing the P-34 along to Don Whelan for what I had paid for it. It is a pearl handled knife and this one had the original leather case. After an afternoon nap it time for Mark Barren and I to get down to some trading. I had two items he wanted, a B-21-545 Briggs (VG) and a P-90-2 Bartels (EX), while he had several pieces I wanted. Unlike trading with Larry the night before, this trade took a couple of hours. Mark ended up giving me an A-42-16 Port Washington (EX), a B-7-2 Bartholomay (Fair), an E-7-61 Olean (G), an E-9-22 Welz & Zerweck (G) and an E-9-122 Connecticut (EX). Mark figured I owed him something on a future trade and I probably do.

Friday night at Blue-Gray is pizza night. I don't know how the show hosts do it, but for $14 registration, you get a table for the Saturday show, plenty of beer and soft drinks and pizza on Friday nights. In this day and age it is a great deal. I did buy an unusual K-Style bar mount opener that evening. It had no drink advertising but had 3 shelves for 3 different size cans and was made by Mar-Kay Industries of Chattanooga, Tenn. If anyone has heard of this before please let me know. I made one lap around the floors that evening but only bought a nice C-17-43 Del-Mar-Va.

Folks were already setting up at tables by seven the next morning. The show is open to the public, but heck this show already had the public staying at the motel. Not many new openers turned up, but Larry did buy a B-14 Coca-Cola from Bethlehem, PA that I walked by because it is the standard B14 Coca-Cola ad on the front and Bethlehem, PA is on the back. It pays to be careful. He got another good "E" from me for it. By 11:00 I was ready to head home. I followed Lou Sutton back to Richmond and had lunch at his favorite BBQ place with his wife Rita. By 3:00 I was back in Durham and cleaning up my latest haul. Thanks to Ken Ostrow and Larry Moter it was another great show.

Checking Out An Opener Collection Near Myrtle Beach, SC

Since I started selling on the eBay Internet Auction, I have made a few contacts. One is a new corkscrew collector from Wilmington, NC, Christian Daniel. He bought one corkscrew from me and inquired if he could visit sometime. Well he came by the house in mid-March and I just happen to have some corkscrews to sell him. As part of the deal he said he would tell me about a man who had a bunch of openers to sell, a lot of which were like the ones I have displayed (As and Bs mainly). I agreed and he said he would contact the man and set up a visit. I wanted to go the first of April, but Christian went and lined it up for the next weekend.

The following Saturday I drove down to Wilmington to Christian's house. For someone who has only been collecting 6 months he has made great progress. He had about a 3 foot square coffee table filled up with nice corkscrews. After a quick look at his collection we were off to see the mystery opener collector. It took about hour to get there and we arrived at 11:00. His pride and joy was his cast iron figural collection. He was willing to sell anything and everything he had but the cast iron went as one collection. Too rich for me, but that was really just the start of what he had to offer. In his garage there were at least 10 large boxes full of miscellaneous openers. A lot of boat anchor material but a lot neat stuff. This collector had bought every opener and corkscrew if he didn't already have it. Advertising or no advertising it didn't matter.

Christian had picked the corkscrews pretty good and some of prices were a little high. I spent two hours looking and amassed a pile of 42 openers and corkscrews I wanted. The man wanted me to make an offer for the pile. I did some calculating and offered $500. You could tell he was real happy and accepted the offer quickly. I then purchased 2 more corskcrews and a champagne tap at greatly reduced prices. It was about 1:00 by now and I was getting hungry. Hunger pains are the only thing that slows down my desire to find openers (opps – sorry Pat). We closed the dealing and left the former JFO member with boxes scattered everywhere but he was in a good mood. He said it was no problem for him to clean up.

We took off and as I was driving Christian did a play by play of the pile I had bought. About 20 items were $2-$10 items. I was most happiest with a cast metal woman figural opener that has a corkscrew swinging out from here tail. She holds an opener over her head and is stamped "Miss America Chicago 1934". Later Don Bull told me it is only the second he has ever heard of and the other is in his collection. Not much in beer or soda openers (the two best beer ones were an F-6-34 Keeley and an O-4-36 Wiedemann) but just some neat openers. I was certainly a happy camper going back to Durham. Thank you Christian for the tip. You just never know what might turn up and it is basically in my own backyard.

Actual length is 9 ½ inches, marked "Arts In Wood Denver Colo."

An unusual "Nude Woman" opener.

Mid-Missouri Breweriana Show (Feb 13th and 14th) by Ollie Hibbeler

Shirley and I drove 75 miles on Saturday morning the 14th and arrived a half hour early. I made a quick pass around the approximately 100 tables. I found hardly any openers to speak of. Just some new A-B plastic openers. Will they ever close making new openers! Whatever happened to the tab-top cans?

Then I spotted the reason for my poor showing. My fellow J.F.O. friends Art Santen and Vic Keown were standing around Don and Cora Whelan's table. None of them were looking for any openers, even though Don Whelan had more good openers for sale or trade than all the rest of the table sellers put together. They were talking about the J.F.O. convention in San Francisco. All are going including myself. With Southwest Airlines fares for $200 round trip from St. Louis – how could anyone stay at home!

During the conversation I found out all the opener action occurred on Friday, the day before. Vic purchased two M-3s he didn't have, an M-3 Edelweiss (Black) and a 1934 World's Fair and numerous new plastic openers. Art purchased a porcelain stopper marked "H. Bohn Branford, CT.".

I would have liked to have been there Friday evening when Art and Don traded each other 60 openers apiece. Now that is a TRADE! They had to have been working on this trade previously by mail. I wonder who got the best of the trade? Let's ask them in San Francisco.

Before we left about 1:00 P.M. I did purchase two unlisted new pewter openers with Budweiser and Michelob embossed, an L-12-Bud, 2 unlisted Q-36s, a Q-31-41 Bud, a Q-31-62 Bud, a I-13-127 Coors Special, and two foreign openers. Not much but the conversation was great. My next chance will be in San Francisco, but all three of these guys will be there too and again, one day ahead of me!

"Opener Trivia"

In the last issue in my article on the eBay internet auction I mentioned a Beau-Brummel type corkscrew sold for $905. Well one JFO member called saying he had found one at a local yard sale and was hoping it was worth $900 but unfortunately he found a $10-$40 one. Don Bull was kind enough to write the following article and provide pictures and values.

Roundlets by Don Bull

There are several types of "Roundlets" or "Beau Brummel" type corkscrews. Most work by unthreading one end of the case from the other. The worm is concealed inside, slides out and swivels perpendicular to the case. The first piece is threaded back on to form the handle. Others have a worm loose in the case which fits in a slot in the case. A third variety opens to reveal a folding worm.

The most well known to the beer advertising collector are the Type L2/L6 mini bottles and Type M25 bullets. These are based on the 1897 patent of William Williamson and the 1900 patent of Ralph Jorres. The value of the bottles and bullets ranges from $50 - $150 depending upon the advertising message on the plates. A rarer version of the bottle with a stanhope in the top exist and has a value of $250-$300.

The other known beer advertising type Roundlet is the P-44 nickel-plated brass. The only advertising name noted on this type is Bartholomay Rochester. The value to a corkscrew collector would not be as significant as the $150-$250 value to a beer collector. This type of roundlet without advertising can be found at prices ranging from $10 - $40. With other types of advertising or marked examples fetch a bit higher range. Early celluloid, bakelite and wood versions are valued at $75 - $200. A wood roundlet with a stanhope was found at $400. Modern plastic roundlets are $2 - $20.

Silver examples of the sliding worm type are valued at $150 up to $600. The higher end of the range are fine examples produced by such companies as Tiffany and Gorham. A few gold examples have also been found at the higher value range.

Sliding worm roundlets with a cap lifter on one end are valued at $150-$200. A rare example has a cocktail spoon on the opposite end ($250). Another hard to find roundlet is a small figure of Christopher Columbus ($500).

A tool case roundlet will contain a corkscrew and, perhaps, an awl, a screwdriver, a file or a tweezers. Plain examples are $10 - $30. Nicely machined versions are $50 - $100. These have also been found with lighters in the end ($200) and ferrules on the end for attaching saws, hammers or screwdrivers ($100-$500).

The rarest "roundlet" is the hinged type with a folding worm. Two of these are shown in closed and open positions below. The brass (large piece) example recently sold on ebay internet auction for $905.00. The silver roundlet (small piece) is rare and has a value of $2500 - $3500.

The Don Bull Collection of L-2s (Beer and Non-Beer)

Don Bull's History and List of Bottle Corkscrews

On June 1, 1897 William A. Williamson was granted U.S. Patent #583,561 for his invention of a corkscrew which is concealed inside a small bottle or bullet shape. The ends thread together and when unscrewed, a helix pivots at an angle to the base. The two pieces are then screwed back together to from the handle. Advertising plaques were applied to the bottles.

On September 4, 1900 Ralph W. Jorres was granted U.S. Patent #657,421 for his version of this corkscrew. Jorres atttached the helix to the top of the bottle instead of the base. Some of the Williamson bottles had stanhopes (magnifiers) in the top. When held up to the light a photo can be seen through the viewing hole. These are noted in the table below. Unfortunately, the photo was delicate and finding one complete is rare.

The table below contains known advertising plates with shapes and sizes shown. If the corkscrew is a bullet shape, an * appears in the Plate column before the V (vertical) or H (horizontal) plate designation. In the column marked C/S denotes whether the worm is in the top or the base. In the column labelled B indicates those in my own collection. Variations in patent data on the base bottom have not been considered in this list.

1962 Spinning Wheel Antiques Article on Corkscrews (2 Pages After Opener Trivia)

My mother bought this small antique magazine with a corkscrew article. The front page shows several corkscrews and then there was a one page article. I don't know if Frank MacDonald is still collecting but it certainly seems he had good pickings in 1962. Apparently 16th and 17th century corkscrews were easily obtainable at this time and I am sure the price was right. Of course 19th and 20th century were not very desirable then. The good old days of collecting.

Lew Burritt wrote the following article on Dixie Beer openers. He adds that what started out back in '86 as an attempt to identify the Dixie Brewing Co. openers in my collection has now ended up as my compilation of "The Openers of Dixie". Along the way there was input from several local collectors of Dixie breweriana, correspondence with Ed Kaye and considerable help from Art Santen in weeding out those openers listed in the "Handbook" which in all likelihood do not exist.

THE OPENERS OF DIXIE

The bible of beer openers is the "Handbook of United States Beer Advertising Openers and Corkscrews" published in 1996 by Just For Openers, a club devoted to those handy gadgets that let us savor the contents of beer bottles and cans.

Here are the openers the "Handbook" attributes to the Dixie Brewing Co. of New Orleans. We have also added those openers that have appeared in JFO Newsletters since the 1996 "Handbook" was published.

First let's define the categories of the various Dixie openers. We'll use the "Handbook" designations for the purpose of clarity. B openers are key shaped openers. E are wire formed openers (like Coca Cola openers). G are cap lifters. I are combination cap lifters and can piercers (church keys). O are wall mount openers. N are novelty openers.

Let's start with B-19-199. Dixo was a near beer produced by the Dixie Brewing Co. during prohibition. B-19-240 actually predates B-19-199. It is one of the few pre-prohibition Dixie advertising pieces that is in existence today. The diamond opening in both B-19 openers was used to turn on the gas headlights on timey automobiles (well before my time).

The four E openers vary in length as well as in the shape of the base. The E-6 opener has a flat base. The E-11 openers is long (4 5/8 inches). E-14 openers run from 3 $\frac{1}{4}$ inches to 3 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches in length.

G-14-18 is the oldest of the two G openers, a metal opener with a plastic sleeve over the handle. Note the incorrect spelling Plaquemines. G-28-26 is the newest of the Dixie openers.

I-11-38 is a common opener. We discuss I-11-169 later. I-11-335 and I-12-17 are probably varieties of the same opener. We'll cover later. I-13-9 and I-17-155 vary in length, the I-13 being between 3 7/8 inches and 4 1/8 inches while the I-17 runs from 4 ½ inches to 4 3/8 inches. There are minor variations of the two proceeding openers if you compare the manufacturer's data. I-22-21 will be covered later. I-22-28 is a long, wide "Esi-Ope" opener designed by Harland Ransom in the early fifties.

N-2-1 is the revered bowling pin opener with the key chain. It comes in red, blue and gold anodized aluminum. The DRINK DIXIE BEER is white. If you have a plain aluminum opener, it has probably lost its anodized color (see if DRINK DIXIE BEER is still white). There are rumors of a green anodized version, but "show me". N-88-1 is an elongated version of the N-2. Bartenders complained that the N-2 was too short for them, so Dixie met their wishes with a longer handle. The opener was packaged in a cardboard tube with metal end caps.

The O-5-3 is a Dixie wall mount opener.

If you noticed in the listing of the Dixie openers, four were shown with an *. In my opinion, supported by the opinions of several major opener collectors, these openers do not exist. Take I-11-169, I-22-21 and N-2-2. All three are indicated as saying DIXIE BEER. No way. Until the G-28-26 was issued in 1996, no Dixie opener said merely DIXIE BEER. No doubt early reporters of openers said, "I have one of these from Dixie Beer," and they were so listed. I consider I-11-35 and I-12-17 variations of the same opener. Both are indicated as saying DIXIE 45 (45 IN A CIRCLE) BEER. I have one manufactured by Vaughan and one by Handy. The Vaughan opener fits the dimensions of I-13's (3 ¼ to 3 3/8 inches). The Handy opener is 1/16th of an inch too long to fit the I-11 category but well short of dimensions for I-12 (3 5/8 to 3 3/4 inches). Again my opinion has support from a major collector who tells me he has never seen an I-12-17 and feels the I-12-17 does not exist as a separate opener.

This brings the actual number of Dixie Brewing Co. openers down to sixteen.

For uniformity, the "Handbook" should show I-11-335 as DIXIE 45 (45 IN CIRCLE) BEER.

Incidentally, there are several other "Dixie Beer" openers listed in the "Handbook", but they are associated with the Lexington Brewing Co. There is also a "hatchet" opener which says DIXIE BEER CO. This opener has been labeled a fraud though it does make a nice collectable.

My collection is complete except for the B-19-199 DIXO opener and the E-6-133. If you have an extra of either, please think of me. I am willing to purchase.

Antiquity of The Corkscrew

by FRANK H. MacDONALD

THE corkscrew seems to have originated some time in the sixteenth century soon after Spanish corks replaced tow or other material as stoppers in wine bottles. In the beginning the corked bottle was opened by digging the cork out piecemeal, pushing it into the bottle, pulling it out with the teeth, or by breaking the neck of the bottle. (Glass bottles then cost twelvepence each, the wine only fourpence.) Perhaps it was some early wine steward, appalled by either the exertion or the expense, who developed a crude but workable corkscrew by bending a piece of steel wire or a bodkin into a spiral or helix, twisting it into the cork, and attaching a piece of wood or other material to the opposite end in the form of a "T."

Those early bottles or jugs, when corked, were sealed with sealing wax. A black colored wax was first used, later wax of Spanish red. When a bottle was to be opened, the sealing wax had to be broken, the string which tied the cork to the neck-lip of the bottle cut, then the cork pulled out with the corkscrew. Convenient attachments began to appear on this implement. One of the earliest was a small brush inserted into one end of the "T" handle to brush away the remains of the sealing wax and broken cork from the mouth of the bottle. Later, when wire was substituted for string to bind the cork to the neck of the bottle, a small knife-like tool was fastened to the end of the corkscrew as a cord or wire cutter.

English records as early as 1545 show wines were being "binned," that is, the bottles were placed slopewise on the floors of wine cellars or in racks along the walls. The cork in contact with the wine swelled so that the fit with the bottle was very snug. It took a strong pull to dislodge the cork, and those concerned worked constantly to make a stronger, better corkscrew. With each generation through the centuries, mechanical improvements in corkscrews emerged. Some have been practical and are still in use; others were not, and were soon discarded. English makers of cooperage tools made an auger-type corkscrew called a "wimble"; the Spur

HIS innate curiosity about small mechanical tools led Frank H. MacDonald of Los Angeles, California, to the acquisition of an odd corkscrew, made like a folding hat rack, marked "Wiers Patent 1884." Today his collection of corkscrews number over 200. His earliest example is Dutch; it has a pewter handle and is presumed to date from 1740. They are of brass, hard woods, ivory, mother-of-pearl, horn, tusks, and other substances. Mr. MacDonald intends to keep building his collection as a point of interest in that fast-approaching day when corkscrews become "tools of the Makers Craft produced a corkscrew according to their own design. In the latter part of the seventeenth century in England, the design of the helix or spiral was increased to three inches and was known as a "worm."

Corkscrews in the Georgian period became elaborate, being made of fine steel with handles of sterling silver, mother-of-pearl, semi-precious stones, pewter, brass, and ivory. Handsome ones in small sizes appeared for milady's perfume bottles.

The Victorian period brought the mechanical types which have persisted to the present time. There appeared "screws within screws" similar to the Model T Ford jack; some worked on the ratchet principle. Hundreds were made in a wide variety of designs and patterns. In the latter part of the 1880s, wire corkscrews in all shapes and sizes were prevalent. The small wire corkscrew for medicine and perfume bottles came into wide use.

With the advent of the screw-top and other present-day closures, the knell of the corkscrew has been sounded. Even the corks in wine bottles, the last stronghold of the corkscrew, are being replaced by metal or plastic closures.

M-37 Bells Of Sarna Schlitz Opener in the Original Box

I recently bought this M-37 Schlitz off the eBay auction. It is in the original box and has the papers. The one tag dates the piece to 1949. The opener is mint and the box is also in great shape.

NEW YEAR

in India, New Year festivities (Diwali) are celebrated the last four days of the year. Shops, houses and buildings are gaily decorated and the result is a rich blaze of color. Sweetmeat shops and venders do a tremendous business during these festive celebrations and they build candy pyramids which are several feet high. On Diwali Eve people dress up for the occasion and visit their friends, leaving a package of candy at each house. The light of oil lamps flickers over the entire city, making the scene one of indescribable beauty. At midnight, they have the Diwali ceremonies where they worship Lakshmi, Goddess of Weelth and Beauty. Pundit (learned man) washes the floor with fresh soil, and when the floor is dry he writes in Sanskrit with flour on the floor. In the center of the floor he places a plate filled with silver coins. Friends, guests sit around the floor. They burn incense, read phrases from Mahabarta, sprinkle holy water from the Gondess, put Safron and flowers on coins, start new account books and make metry. Diwali ceremonies last from Diwali Eve to New Year's moming and ringing of bells to call on Goddess Lakshmi can be heard all night long. LAKSHMI DEVI KI JAII

Spouse's Corner

by Pat Stanley, the Editor's Spouse

Well, dear friends, John is off to Ohio to a show. He took the two people who started his interest in collecting, his parents. While he is gone, I'm suppose to create my corner. I think I am too excited about San Francisco to concentrate on the next opener lesson!!!!

John is so dedicated, at this computer every night, working on this newsletter, updating ECBA membership information, and even on the soda pop handbook. Even with that wonderful model, I just can't get myself "opened" to the idea of writing. I do send Jackie Young email about every day, so that counts, right??? After all the Youngs certainly have some great openers. See, I write at work, boring stuff, and since the last newsletter, I have written way more than usual, which means I've had to think more than usual. I must be carrying around as much new information in my little head, as is contained in the entire opener handbook.

I have been visiting the home where Corkie will stay while we are in San Francisco, with another Yorkie. That counts, right???

One evening this week, I did talk to a club member for about an hour and a half. I did take down some information on a possible unlisted opener. That counts, right??? You see, John was asleep and since he had this trip coming up, one where he drives to Ohio one day and returns the next...which does worry me quite a bit... I told the caller, he would just have to talk to me. Apparently that was not a problem!! We talked about last year's convention, this year's convention, who is coming, who is not coming, etc., etc..... how much this club means, how great all the members are, how special the annual convention is......Those who are attending their first convention will understand shortly.

You see, John has been staying up later than usual this past year, but he really requires a lot of sleep...So, if you call after 9, the night owl on duty may not wake him up. He does walk Corkie at 5 a.m. and I sure want to make sure he continues that routine.

Now, I don't want to make any big promises, but maybe what I should do, since I'm not really writing my Openers 101 column, is I should really try to look at some collections in San Francisco and find some of the openers I've written about. Ok, if I take some breaks from playing tourist, Jackie???

So everyone, look for me. If you are in the middle of a big trade, I'll come back later....unless it's a trade with Norm Jay, which is going to take all week anyways!!!

Exploring San Francisco is my second priority, the third is checking out some openers. And the first is meeting Don Johnson, from Nash Bridges....since I just know John Cartwright is a super host and will definitely honor my one request.

Perhaps I will see an opener in San Francisco that John removed from my decorative stamping case and sold or traded without even telling me. Perhaps I will see John some in San Francisco, since there is one rule....he does have to take time out to eat with me. I don't bring back food since the demise of one hamburger in Cincinnati. There were two hamburgers. One was for the person I talked to this week for one and a half hours. I saw him first, so guess who did not get a hamburger? Well, in the end they shared the remaining one.
